

Crime in America: Perception vs. Reality

Public Perception: Most Americans Believe Crime Has Risen

The Perception Gap

While public surveys indicate that 60%+ of Americans believe crime is rising, FBI data shows that crime rates have actually remained flat or declined over the last 20 years. This reveals a significant disconnect between public sentiment and statistical reality.

Individual years

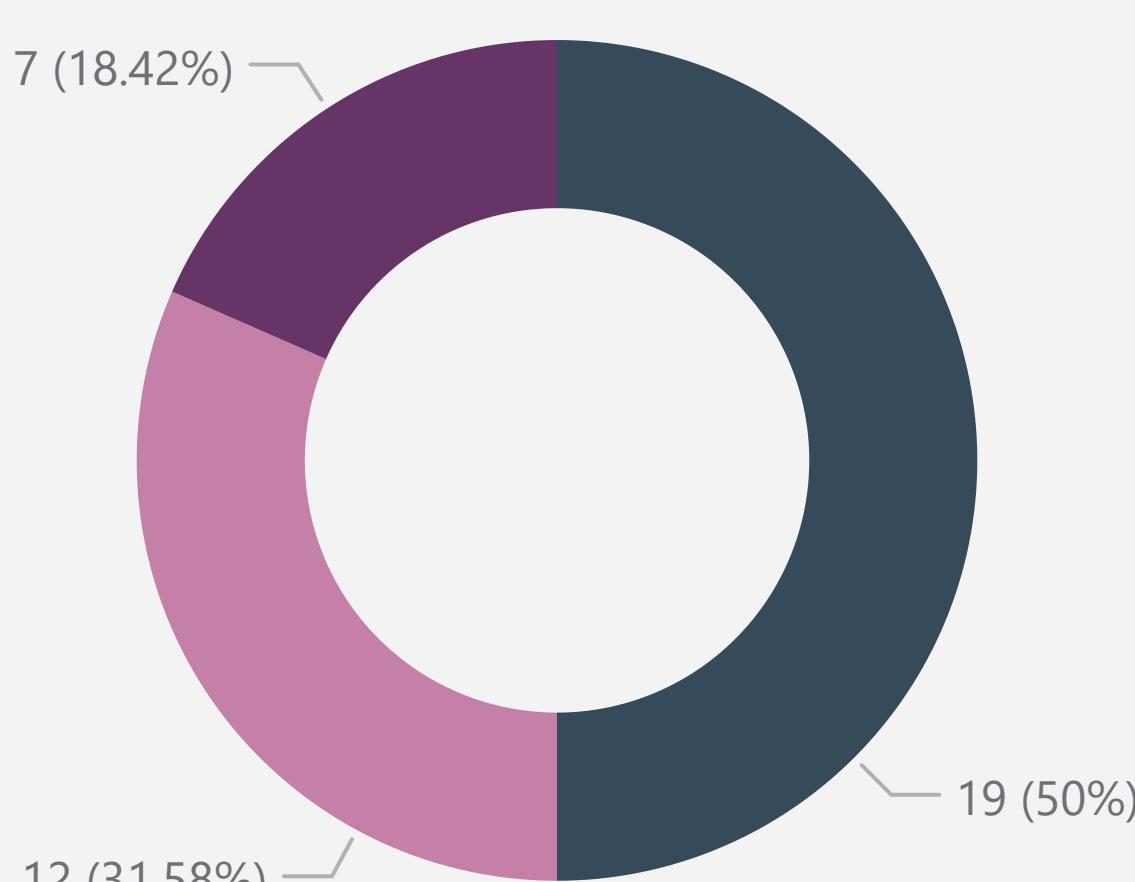

1989-2025

All

Demographic Context

Despite making up 19% of the total population, Hispanic individuals account for a disproportionately low share of reported crime (7%). This data challenges common misconceptions regarding crime and demographics.

Hispanics are Underrepresented in Crime Statistics

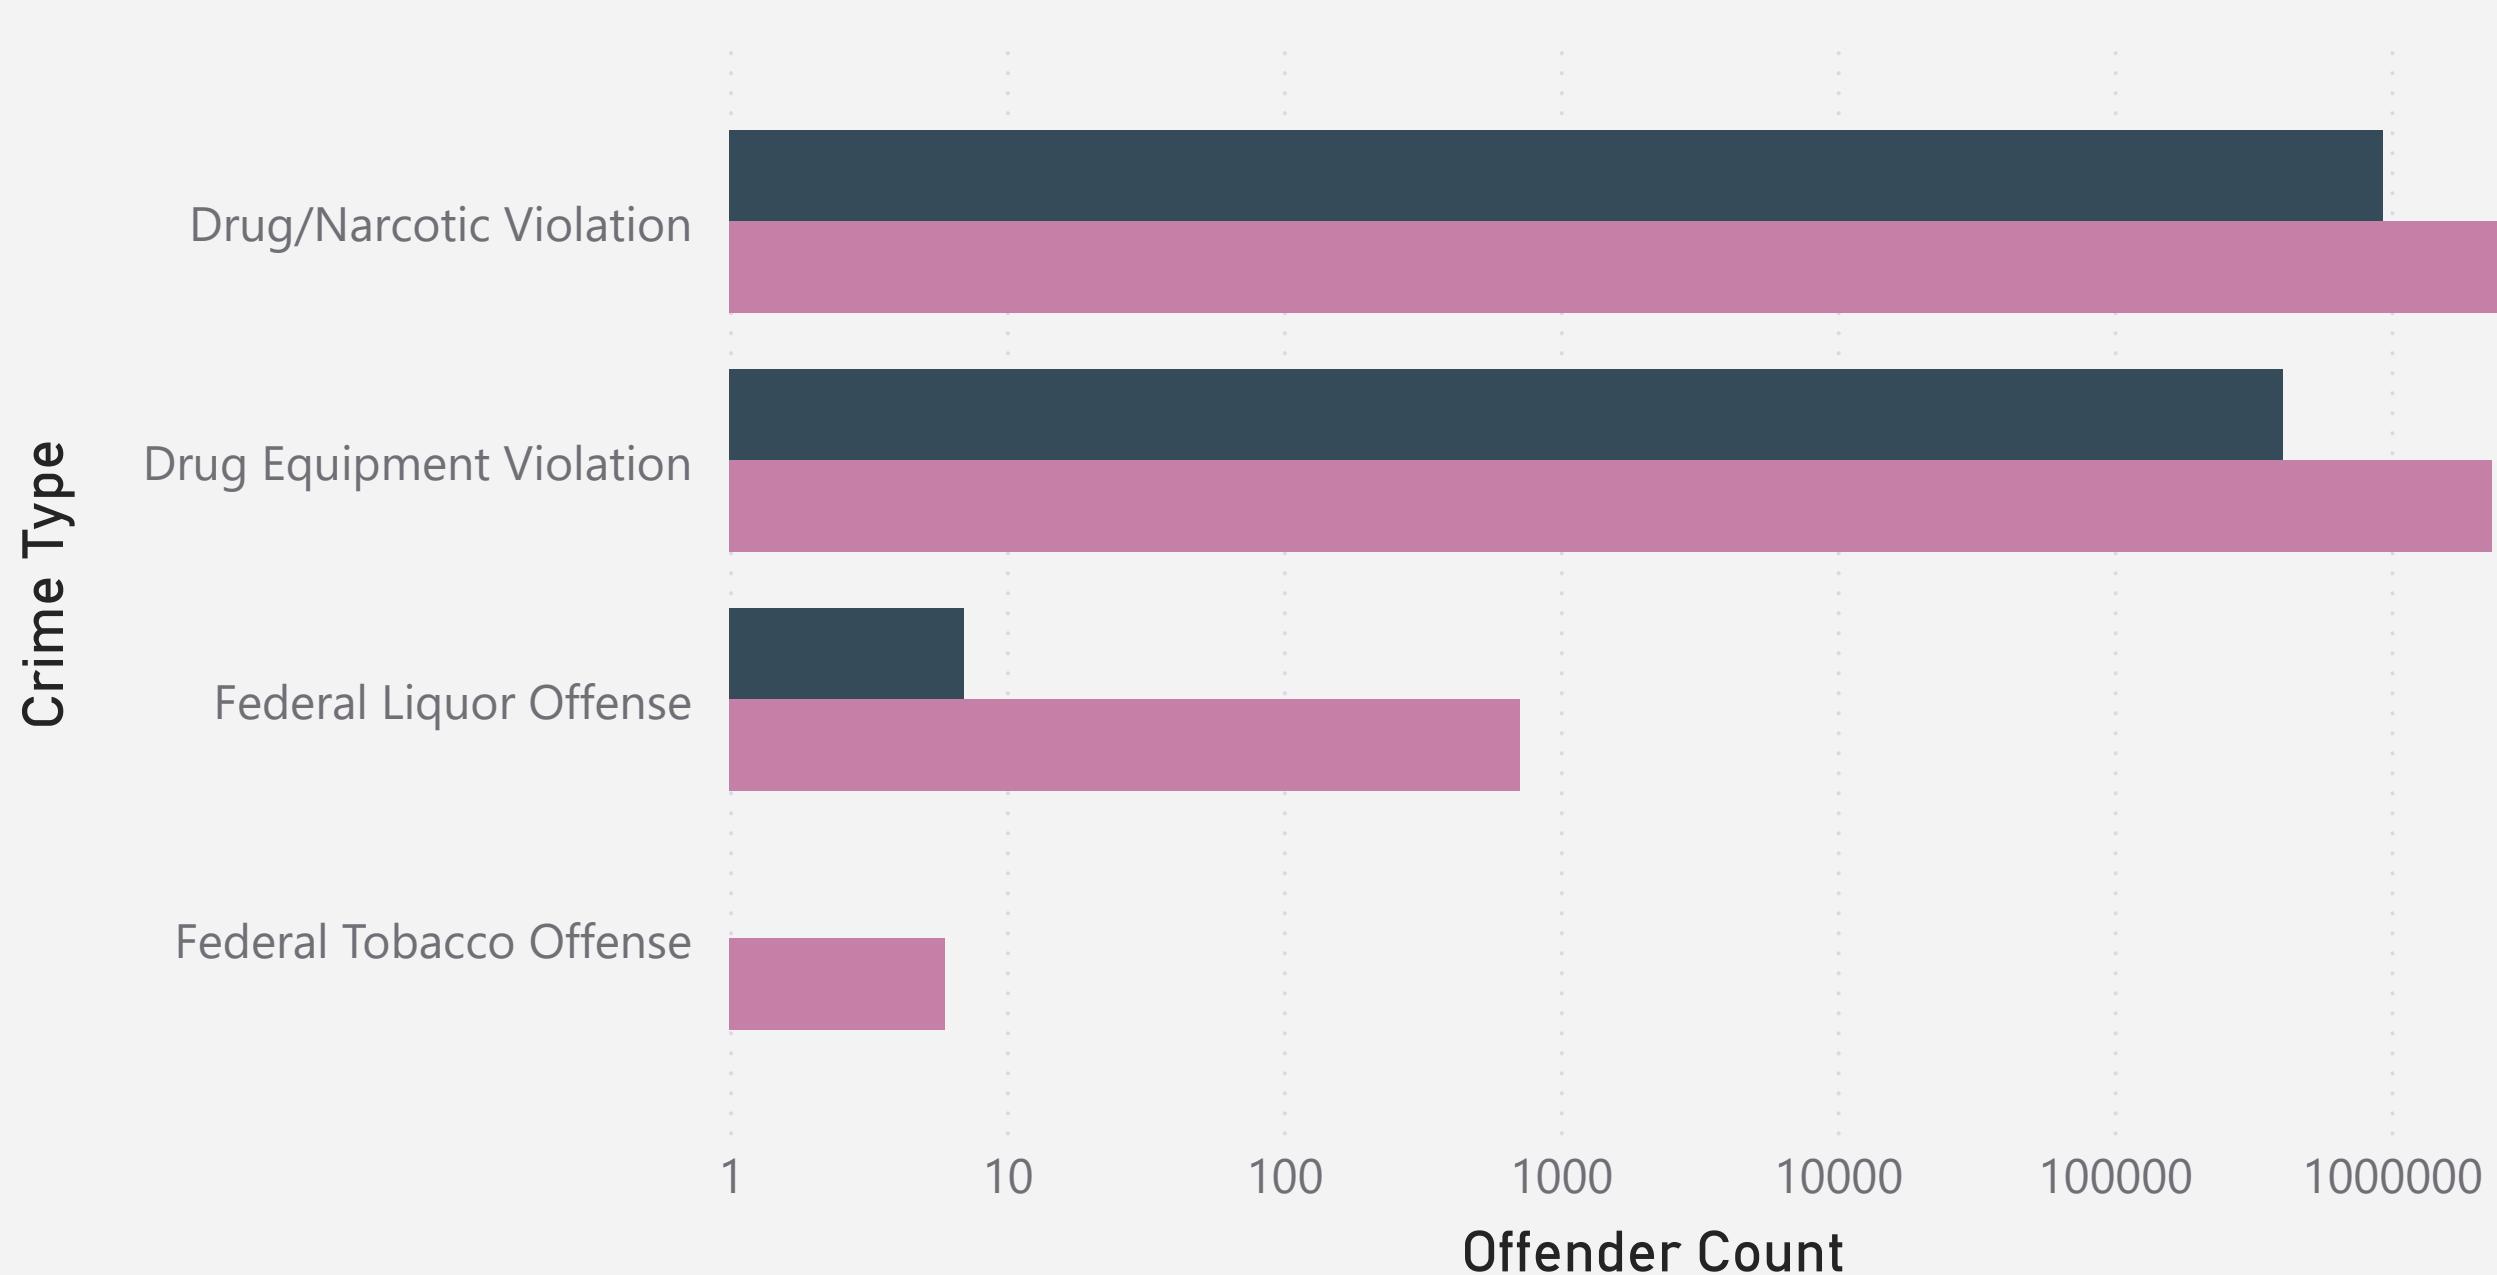

Label

- Hispanic Population
- Underrepresented by
- Hispanic Crime Rate

Reality: Hispanic vs Non-Hispanic Offenders

Demographic ● Hispanic or Latino ● Not Hispanic or Latino

8M

Total Offenses

Volume Comparison

When comparing raw volume, Non-Hispanic offenders vastly outnumber Hispanic offenders across all major federal categories, particularly in Drug and Narcotic-related offenses.

Drug Equipment Viola...
2720984

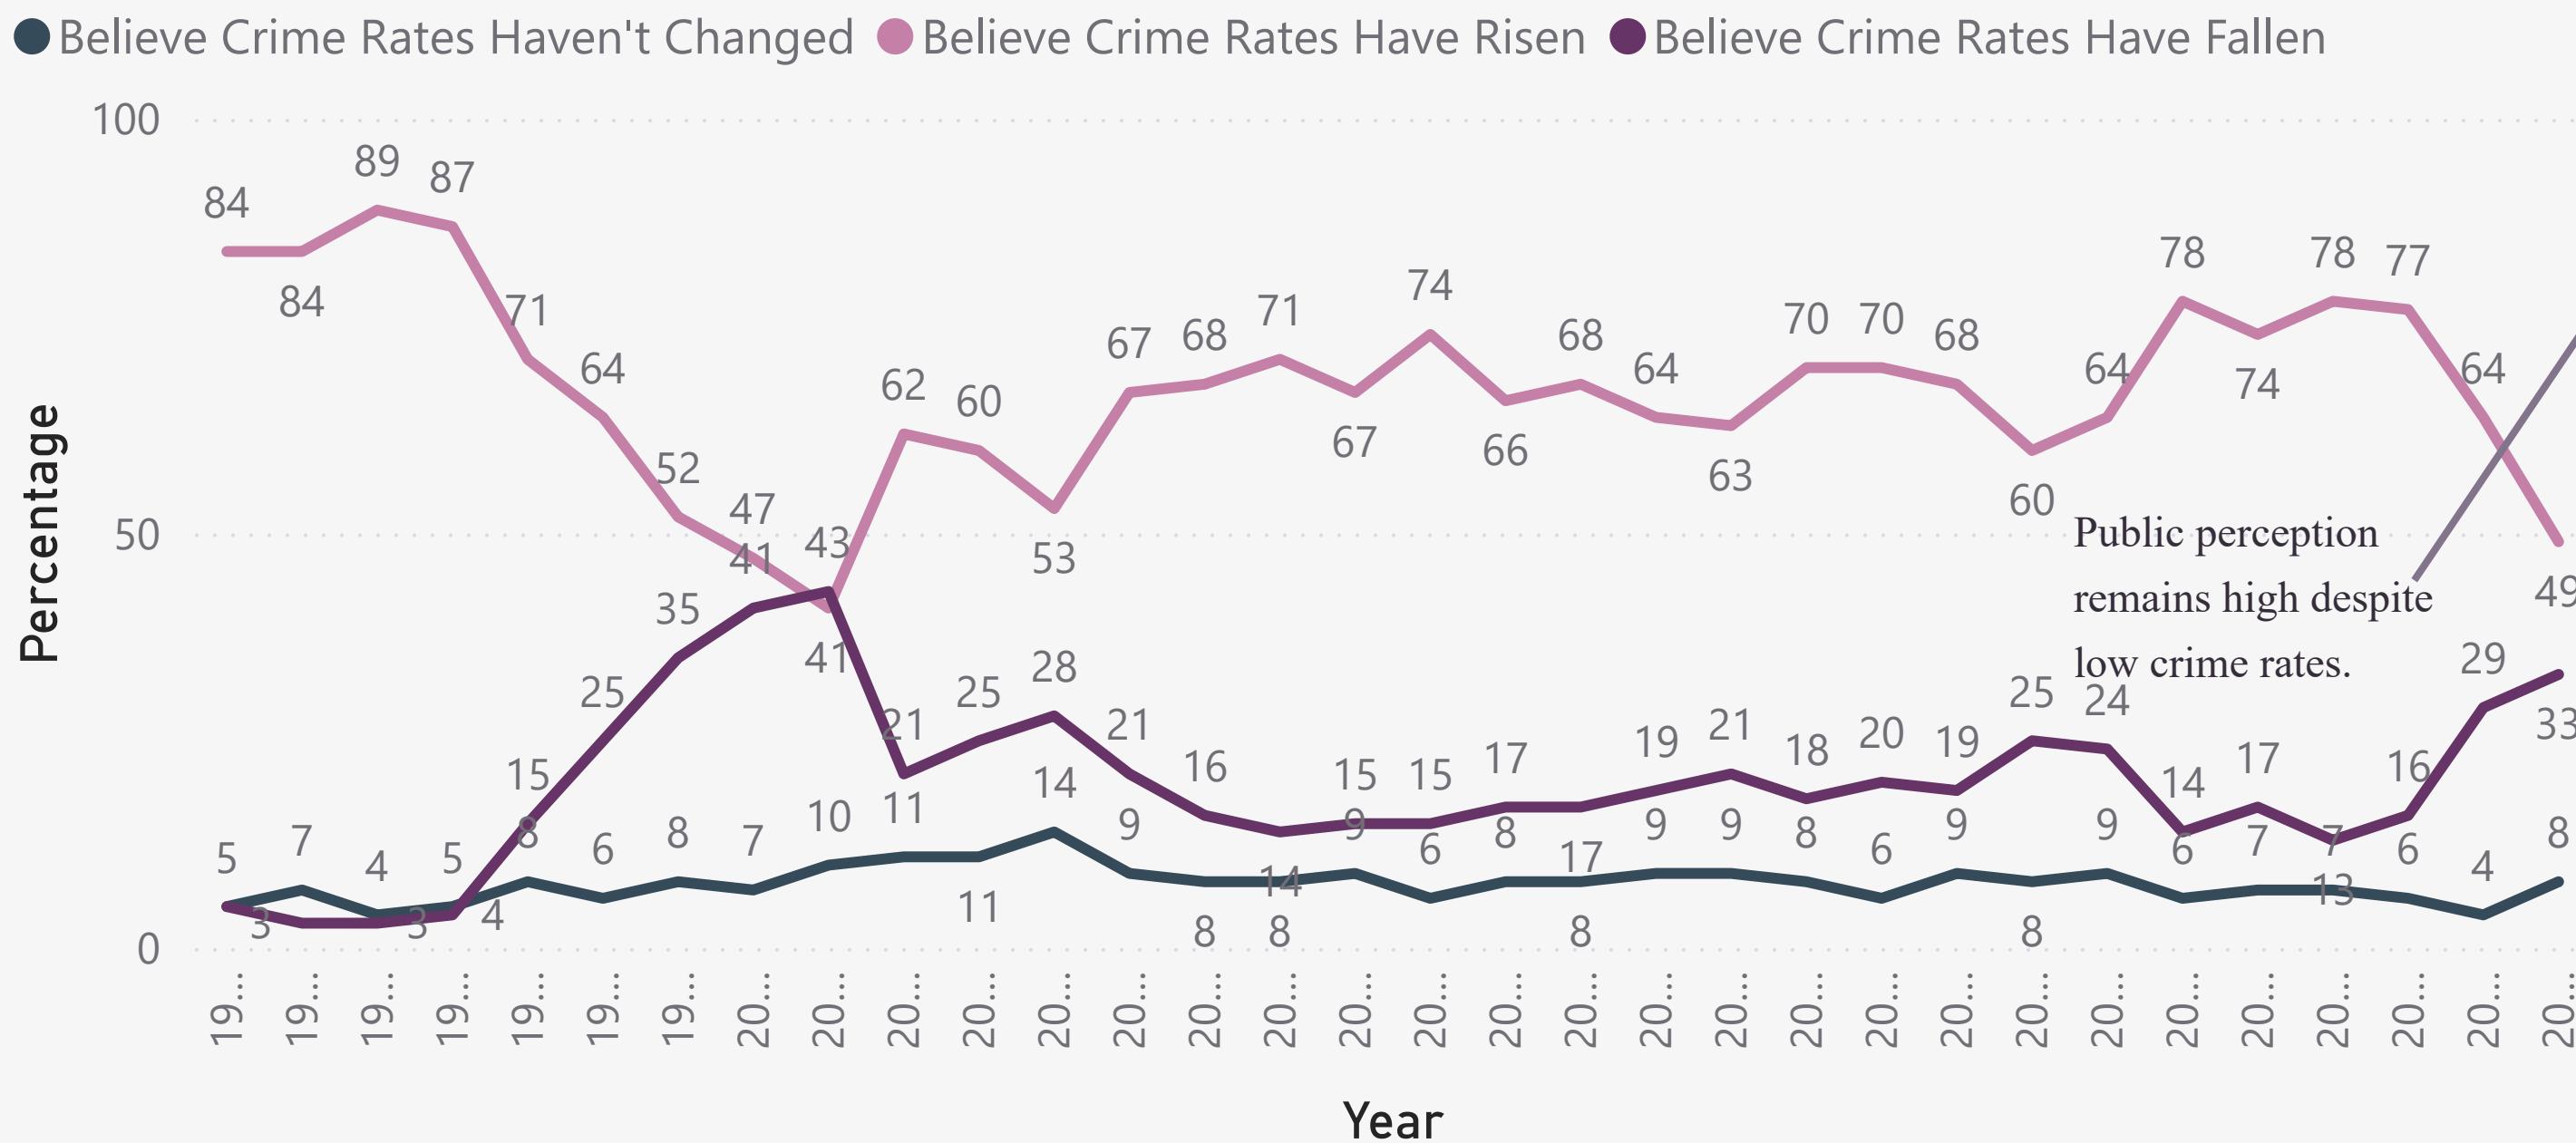

Drug/Narcotic Violation
5727626

Federal Liquor Offense
725

Crime in America: Perception vs. Reality

Public Perception: Most Americans Believe Crime Has Risen

The Perception Gap

While public surveys indicate that 60%+ of Americans believe crime is rising, FBI data shows that crime rates have actually remained flat or declined over the last 20 years. This reveals a significant disconnect between public sentiment and statistical reality.

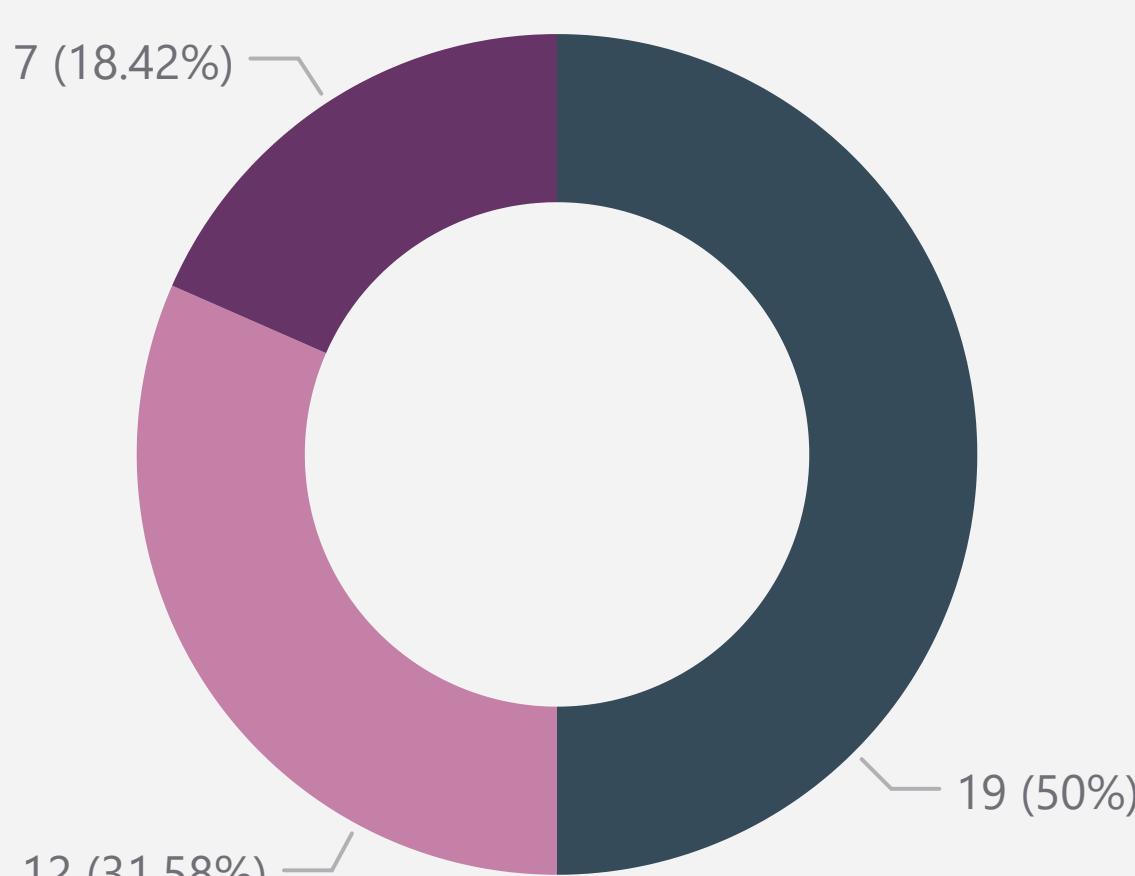

8M

Total Offenses

Demographic Context

Despite making up 19% of the total population, Hispanic individuals account for a disproportionately low share of reported crime (7%). This data challenges common misconceptions regarding crime and demographics.

Hispanics are Underrepresented in Crime Statistics

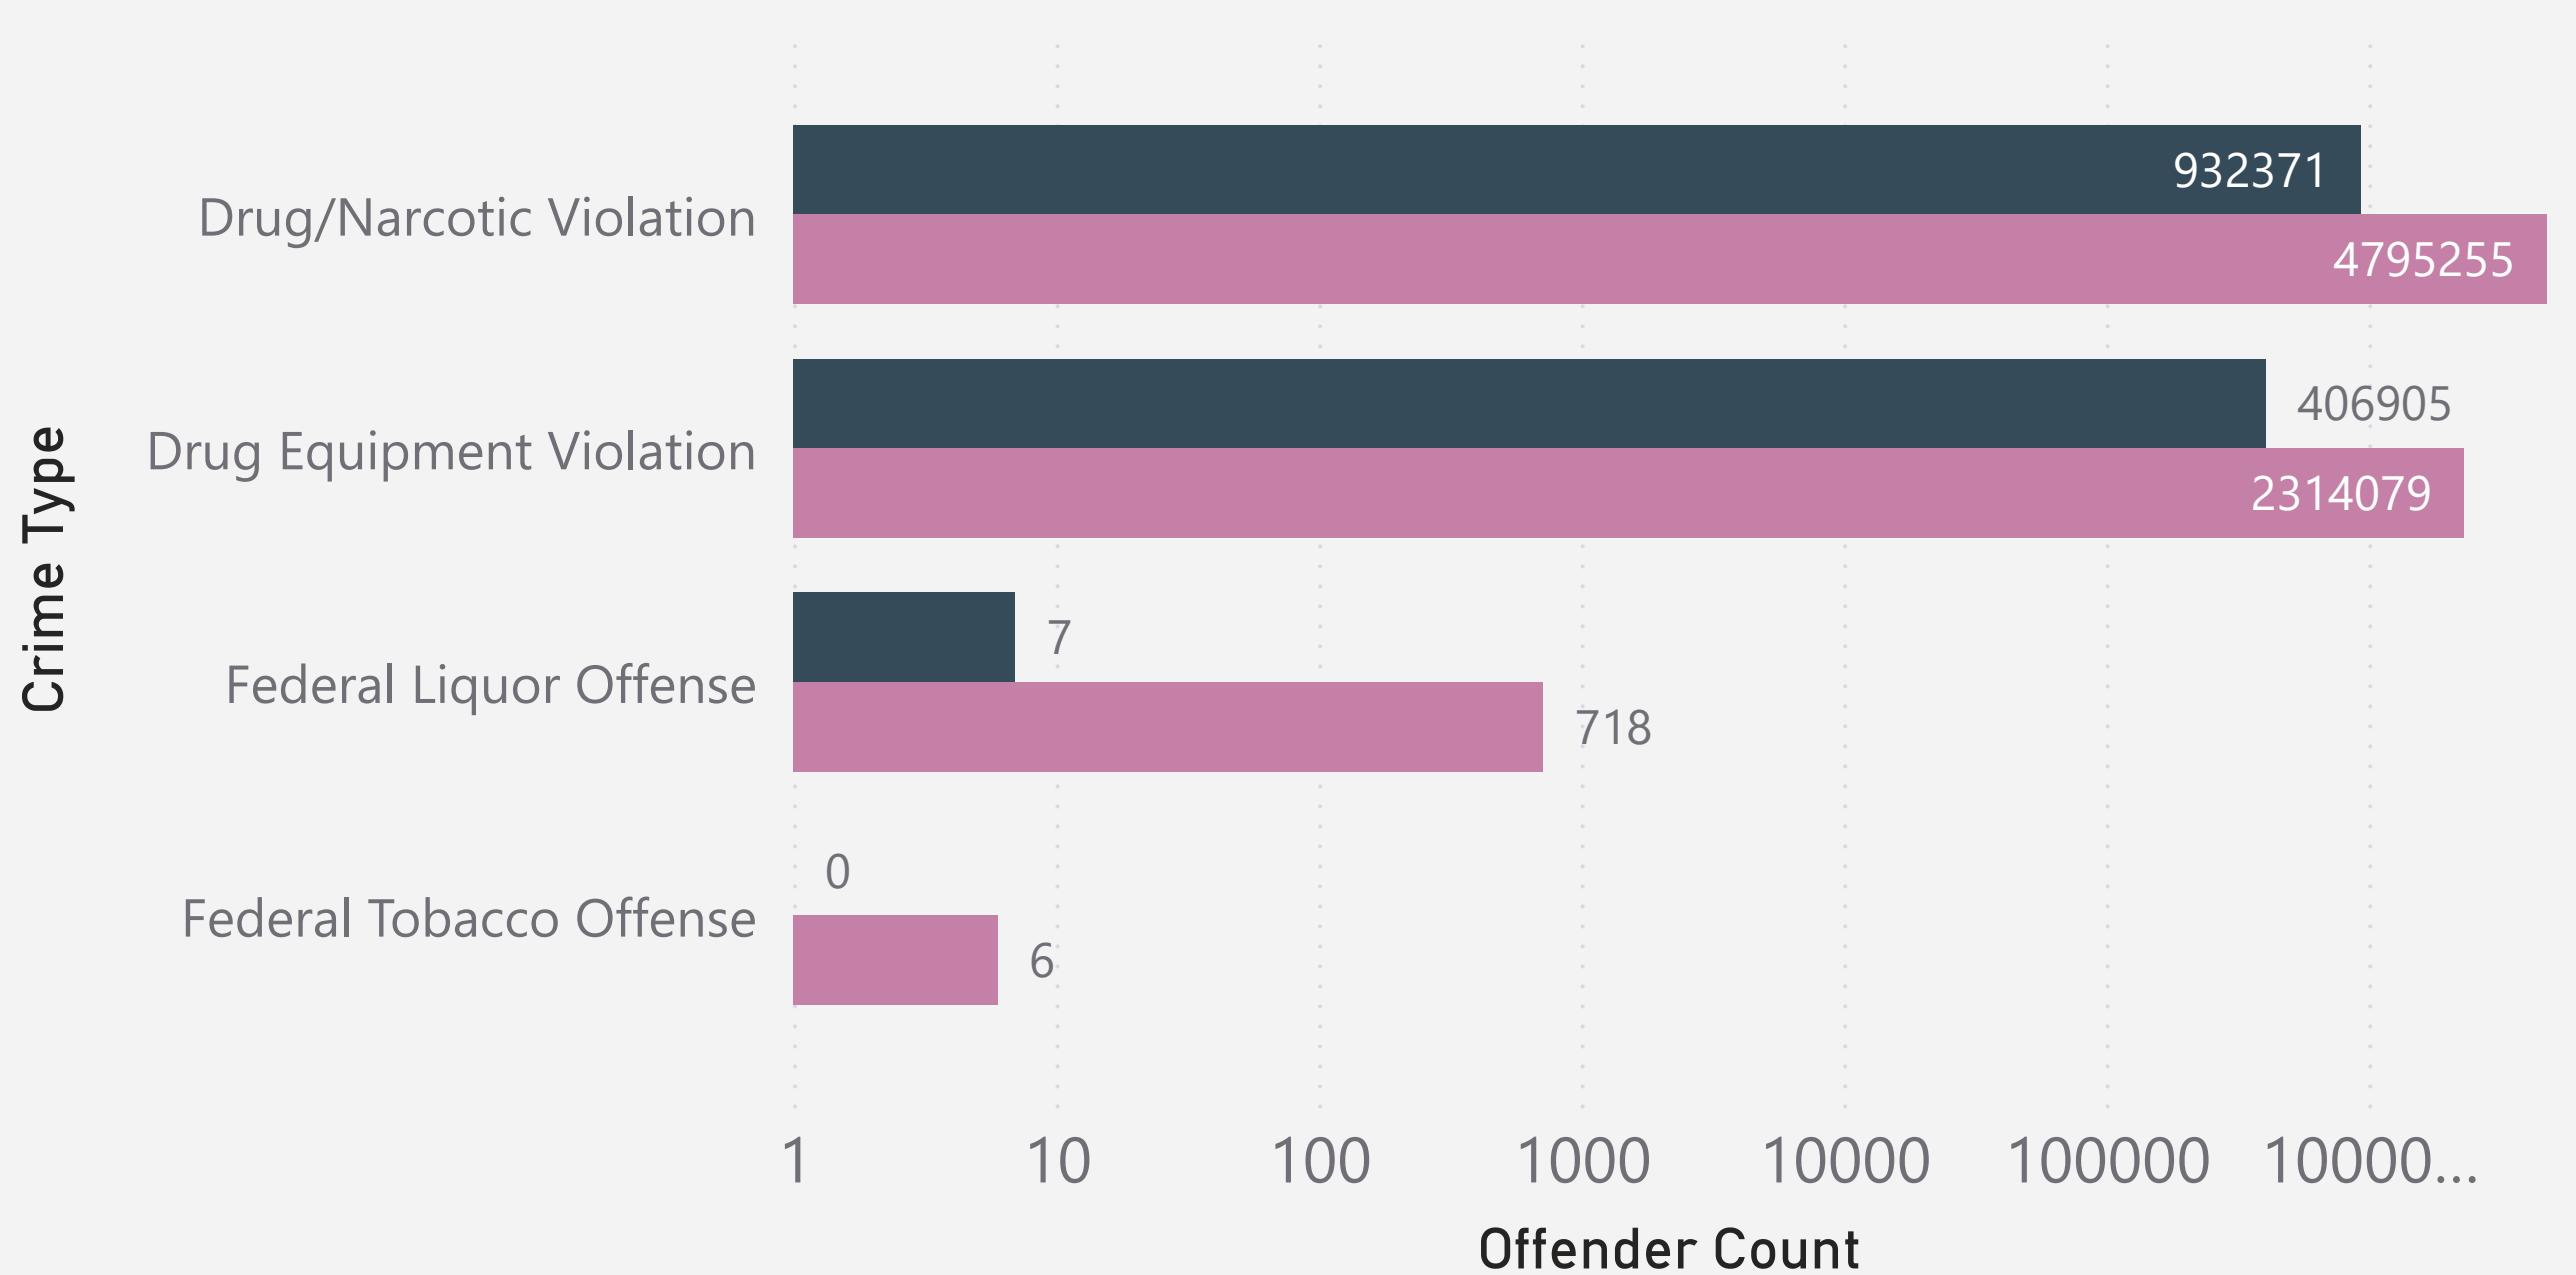

Label

- Hispanic Population
- Underrepresented by Crime Statistics
- Hispanic Crime Rate

Reality: Hispanic vs Non-Hispanic Offenders

Demographic ● Hispanic or Latino ● Not Hispanic or Latino

Volume Comparison

When comparing raw volume, Non-Hispanic offenders vastly outnumber Hispanic offenders across all major federal categories, particularly in Drug and Narcotic-related offenses.